

Magnetization Measurements

We measured magnetization of the green crystal.

Various techniques are available in ISSP including induction method in non-destructive/destructive high-magnetic fields, SQUID magnetometer, Faraday method etc., which allow us to explore various temperature and magnetic field ranges.

We successfully observed magnetization saturation at around 100 tesla.

